This winter is expected to be one of the toughest winters we will ever face, which is a direct result of the cost of living crisis. We know that you and many Camden residents are already being forced to make difficult choices about how to spend your money. As energy bills get more expensive and the weather gets colder, you may also be concerned about how you’re going to afford to put your heating on.

It is unacceptable that you are being forced to make tough decisions like choosing between buying food, staying warm or paying for rent and other essentials, and we will continue to push for extra support from the Government for our community.

As a community we will do everything we can to make sure that you have the support you need. Together with our partners and voluntary sector organisations, we’re stepping in to provide a package of much-needed support with the cost of living crisis. This includes a £2 million Cost of Living Crisis Fund for residents facing the most severe financial hardship (see page 4).

As part of this package of support, and to help everyone stay warm this winter, ‘warm welcome’ spaces are available across Camden (see front page).

We also know that many people are in debt, which can be very stressful. If you’re worried about debt or starting to get behind on payments, please reach out for free and confidential advice (see page 3).

Everyone is likely to need a bit of help this winter. If you’re struggling with rising costs, debt, mental health, housing or anything else, please know that help and support is available. Please don’t suffer in silence and if you can, get help early because the earlier you reach out, the sooner us or our partners can help. Camden is a place where we always step up to look after each other and I know that this winter we will come together as a community to make sure no-one is left behind.

Help with energy bills

If you have debt with your energy supplier: speak to them because they may be able to offer you a payment plan or provide a grant to help pay off energy debts.

If you have a pre-payment meter and cannot top-up: ask your energy supplier for temporary credit and if you run out, ask them how they can help.

If you’re struggling to afford energy bills: check that you’re being charged on your actual usage, not your estimated usage. To help with this, provide regular meter readings. Also check if you’re in credit and due a refund or if your direct debit could be reduced.
