

Camden school proposals

In Camden and across London, there are less babies being born and families are leaving London

This means there are less children to take up school places and schools have spare spaces.

For every spare school place, schools get less money from the government.

This means schools in Camden and across London are struggling with money.

We have been working closely with some schools to support them with these challenges.

And we have been working with 4 of these schools who are struggling the most to discuss next steps.

These schools are:

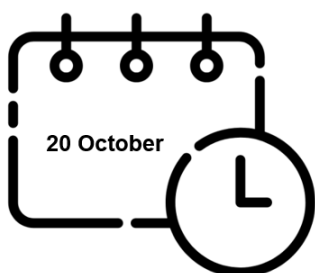

- St Alban's Church of England Primary School
- St Joseph's Catholic Primary School
- St Patrick's Catholic Primary School
- La Sainte Union Catholic Secondary School

On 12 October 2026, we published a report that recommends consulting on the future of these schools.

A consultation is when we ask people to tell us what they think about different options.

On 20 October, we will decide whether consultations will happen or not.

If consultations go ahead, they will probably happen from 2 November to 14 December.

Find out more at camden.gov.uk/SchoolProposals

There is also a British Sign Language video with audio at camden.gov.uk/SchoolProposals

On 21 October, we will update you on next steps.

Produced by Easier Info, part of CLDS, Camden's learning disabilities service